Marius Mueller
Young Director & DOP

Marius is a young director & directing DOP based in Berlin.

From a young age he was influenced by sports and subcultures which had an impact on his style in filmmaking.

While studying communication design he started making films in a DIY manner.

Combining his advertising knowledge and filmmaking tools from all departments he now focuses on directing and telling stories that allow you to dive into new worlds.

Having big ideas but starting with the basics is his formula to let every part of a film come together.
