DIRECTING DOP Duo

This is how Marvin's dog would describe the Klaubautermänner:

Well, what can I say, the guys care at least as much about capturing captivating creative moments, than they care about feeding me what I want them to feed me – Cesar baby!

They are incredibly hard-working, able to move fast & flexible & hate wasting other people's time. But they always make sure there's a bit of extra time for the good stuff in between – dog cuddles!

The guys are super-efficient, in creative control & always keep the brand in mind. It's really important to them that everybody has a great time and enjoys collaborating together. As far as I can remember they got together in Hamburg in 2012 – I was still a small pup. They are team mates Marvin Tomé (former sailor) & Julian Weber (Ex-Art Director). A dynamic & driven DIRECTOR/DOP DUO and repped by FROEHLICH MANAGEMENT. Here's some clients who have trusted the guys to do some fun stuff for them: NIKE / VW / Google / YOUTUBE / D&G and LEVI'S.

They also had the pleasure to meet Cara Delevingne, Karolina Kurkova, Adrien Brody and many other nice people and a couple of animals – I always try and get them to cast some hot dogs. They love to shoot abroad and have travelled to Cuba, Iceland, USA, Japan and more places. Guess that's all chaps. I do like them a lot. Although I'm a bit jealous of Julian for hanging out so much with Marvin, I'm still Number 1 though.

Anyway, the guys are pretty down to earth and simply love what they do, Marvin & Julian are KLABAUTERMANN IMAGES.
